+ENVS 110 will satisfy SBCC GE Area A if taken with ENVS 111. GEOG 101/ERTH 141 will satisfy SBCC GE Area A if taken with GEOG 101L/ERTH 141L.

*If not previously used to satisfy core requirement (listed above).

C. Foreign Language Requirement: Students can complete the major requirements by completing courses from sections A and B only. Yet, it is highly recommended that students complete a one-year sequence in a foreign language at the college level. Students who choose this Foreign Language Option only need to complete six units (two courses) of electives in Section B (see above) to fulfill the requirement for the major. Credit can be given for language classes at the high school level (with 3 years at the high school level equaling 1 year at the college level) and/or for an existing language proficiency. However, students who receive credit for language classes taken at the high school level, or for existing language skills, must still take 9 units (three courses) of electives in Section B.

Global Studies

2017-18

Associate in Arts Degree in Global Studies

Technology has permanently transformed our planet. It is no longer rational to think in terms of the vast geographic barriers separating nations when we can be transported almost anywhere in a matter of hours. Events which previously took weeks or even months to be reported to the rest of the world are not only reported but can have impact almost immediately. Even a casual glance at the arenas of politics, trade, mass media and technology will serve to illustrate these dramatic changes, and make one aware of the importance of the field of International Studies.

Careers in Global Studies

This major is appropriate for career fields in the international arena such as linguistics, international business, environmental studies or diplomacy.
