

WHO: The American Ethnic Studies Department and the SBCC Ethnic Studies Club welcomes all students, faculty and staff

WHAT: Black History Month 'Jeopardy'

WHEN: Wednesday, February 26 from 12:45-1:45 PM

WHERE: WCC105

WHY: In honor of Black History Month

Black History Month is an annual celebration of achievements by black Americans and a time for recognizing the central role of African Americans in U.S. history. The event grew out of “Negro History Week,” the brainchild of noted historian Carter G. Woodson and other prominent African Americans. Since 1976, every U.S. president has officially designated the month of February as Black History Month.

For 40+ years, the game show has been a staple of Saturday Night Live. But Black Jeopardy, the brainchild of writer Bryan Tucker and head writer Michael Che, stands out from all of its predecessors for not only being a clever, enduring concept, but also because it articulates something that often goes unsaid in society. Through these sketches, they show us that black culture is simultaneously esoteric and universal all at once.

So please come and join the American Ethnic Studies Department and the Ethnic Studies Club as we learn about Black History and have fun while at it!

Questions? Contact Craig Cook, Prof. American Ethnic Studies and Advisor of Ethnic Studies Club

x4742 or cmcook@sbcc.edu