Selected Student: Elizabeth Roboz

Submitted by: Sarah Hock

The Communication Department is thrilled to nominate Elizabeth Roboz as our Outstanding Student for 2019-2020. Elizabeth served this year as Vice-President of the Sigma Chi Eta Communication Honor Society chapter at SBCC where she provided outstanding leadership and service to the SBCC community. Her work included the development of an outreach series focused on helping students develop advocacy skills. In addition, as an intern in the Communication Department she played a key role in the success of this year's Lancaster Speech Tournament. She excelled academically in all of her Communication classes, including as a student in honors courses in the Communication major. Her faculty members describe her as a "fantastic student who exceeds all expectations". Congratulations, Elizabeth, for your outstanding work at SBCC!

Elizabeth's Words of Gratitude:

I am so incredibly thankful to have been a student within Santa Barbara City College's Communication Department. Being a student here has been much more than just going to class and learning basic curriculum— but instead an opportunity to develop and expand my passions, rooted in collaboration with all of the wonderful students and faculty here. Furthermore, as this program has supported my excitement on the subject, it has also enabled me to succeed within it. There have been so many different resources— ranging from clubs to internships— that have nurtured my ambitions, and so many wonderful people to support me along the way. I truly hope that I can one day make the same impact on another person as all the wonderful people within the Communications Department have made on me!
